  "title": "Bug: Missing dependency handling for streaming OpenAI calls in OpenAI-cookbook notebook",
  "body": "Description:\nI'm encountering a bug in the OpenAI-cookbook when working with function/tool calling in a streaming context. Specifically, when using the gpt-3.5-turbo or gpt-4 models in streaming mode, the example notebook fails to include required Python dependencies like tiktoken or proper error-handling for broken SSE connections.\n\nSteps to Reproduce:\n1. Clone the OpenAI-cookbook repo.\n2. Navigate to the notebook chat_with_functions.ipynb.\n3. Modify the call to use stream=True.\n4. Run the cell and monitor the output.\n\nExpected Behavior:\n- Required packages like tiktoken should be present.\n- Notebook should handle streaming disconnects gracefully.\n- Real-time token output should work with fallback mechanisms.\n\nActual Behavior:\n- Streaming output fails silently on disconnect.\n- No progress display or logging for token stream.\n- Errors occur if tiktoken or similar packages are missing.\n\nEnvironment:\n- Repo version: latest main\n- Python version: 3.10\n- OpenAI package version: 1.12.0\n- Model: gpt-3.5-turbo, gpt-4\n\nLabels:\n- OriginatingPhase: Design\n- DetectionPhase: Testing\n- Priority: Major\n- Status: Approved\n- Category: Bug\n\nThis issue suggests improving notebook robustness for streaming behavior. Proper error handling and dependency checks will enhance user experience and prevent silent failures."
